Sarun Tamrakar 'The UGLYZ'

Sarun formed the band The Uglyz when he was 15 and began to write songs at 16. In 2003, he went to Nepal for a one month holiday, which got extended to 2 years to complete and promote The Uglyz debut hit album "Rush".

Sarun started out as the drummer for the The Uglyz, however had to take on the role of the lead vocalist when the vocalist/rhythm guitarist Sudip insisted on playing lead guitars instead to impress the girls. Bad move Sudip! Once "Rush" and the music video for "Timro Nyano Angalo..." were released, Sarun became an instant heartthrob among hundreds of thousands of teenage girls in Nepal.
